

Home Page

King River Estate nestles in a picturesque little corner of the King Valley with forest at the back door and stands of mature gums opposite. Rustic corrugated-iron winery buildings bring to mind the old tobacco kilns that once dotted the region. The property is managed along bio-dynamic lines with very traditional wine-making. It's an understated place, but the range of wine speaks eloquently via excellent whites and reds, especially the Estates flagship, elegantly styled Merlot'

RALPH KYTE-POWELL

Visitors can purchase wine from the cellar door, tour the estate or stay in fully self-contained accommodation.

James Halliday Rating 4.5 stars

{smoothgallery album=9&showInfopane=false&lightbox=false&showArrows=false&embedLinks=false&timed=true}